PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

For us all there is endless fascination in a kaleidoscope. The slightest motion sends colors tumbling into an unending variation of everchanging patterns that capture the imagination. In similar fashion we may see the all-encompassing life of a school such as North, serving all youth in the community, each a bit in the kaleidoscope of the ceaseless movement about us. Each contributes his mite, sometimes blending, sometimes contrasting, occasionally brilliant, often subdued, but always a vital part of the colorful whole. Joys, sorrows, triumphs, defeats, important events, trivial occurrences flash momentarily into view only to be as quickly replaced by new and even more brilliant hues in the school day.

The Manet will capture in stop-action sequence the variegated brightness of North in motion. Each may take just pride in his role in it.

John W. Walsh

Mr. John W. Walsh, Principal.

Mr. Walsh and Miss Currier discuss a scheduling problem.

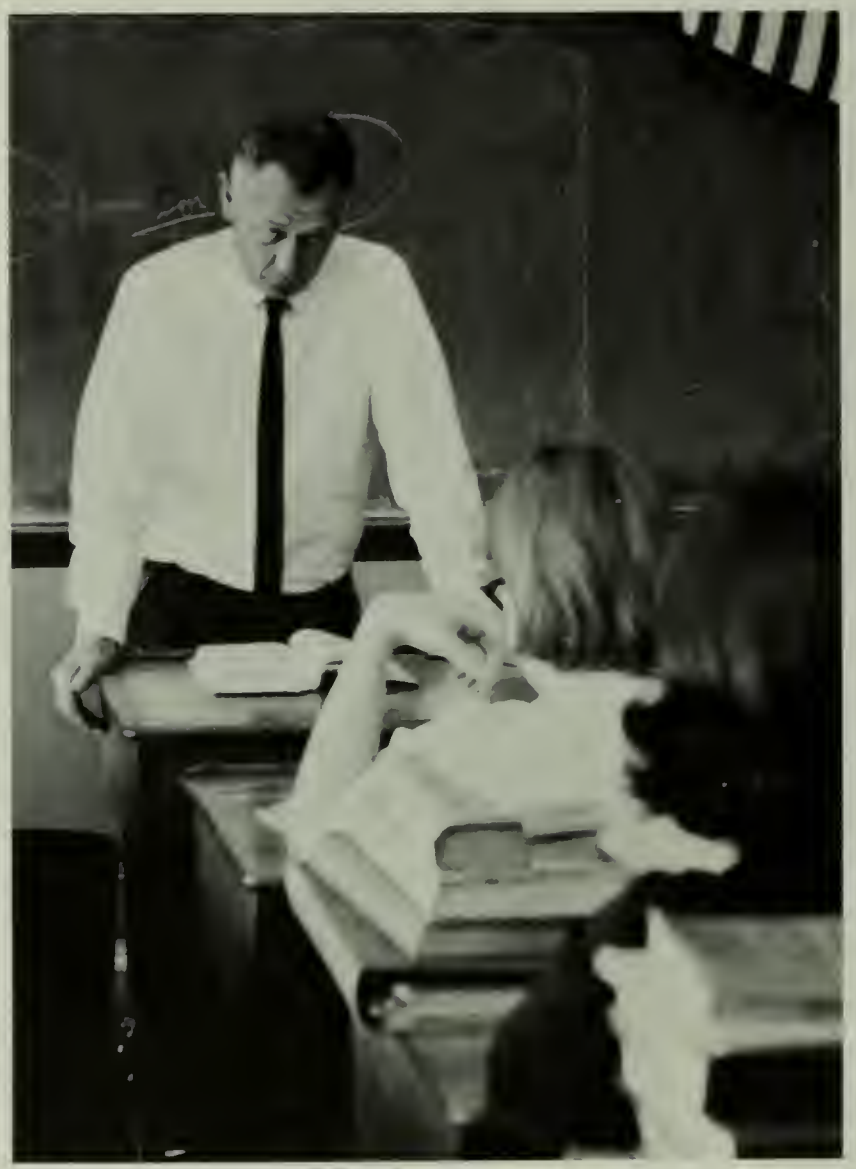
DEDICATION

Economics for the proletariat.

The Class of 1966 dedicates the Manet to Mr. Forester as a social studies teacher who represents academic inquiry, who is not aloof from ideas but listens to them with intense awareness, who is not apart from his students but seeks life and originality from them. The trip to the United Nations is not a strain but a stimulus to his understanding, and his capitulation to our arguments, when we are able to prove them, is not a defeat but a victory to him. Even in barring interruptions to his classes and ideology from foreign affairs, Mr. Forester shows he can clarify and modify attitudes which constitute our school and intellectual life. He enriches life at North Quincy High School by stimulating insights into life outside of it.

The U.N. trip was a chance for Mr. Forester and the seniors to get to know each other.

Mr. Forester finally extracts the gist of an argument from a mumbling student.



High school life is a kaleidoscope, a tumbling pattern of experience which may suddenly crystallize into a study of expression and motion.

The pattern of school life is intensified by volatile gatherings of friends.

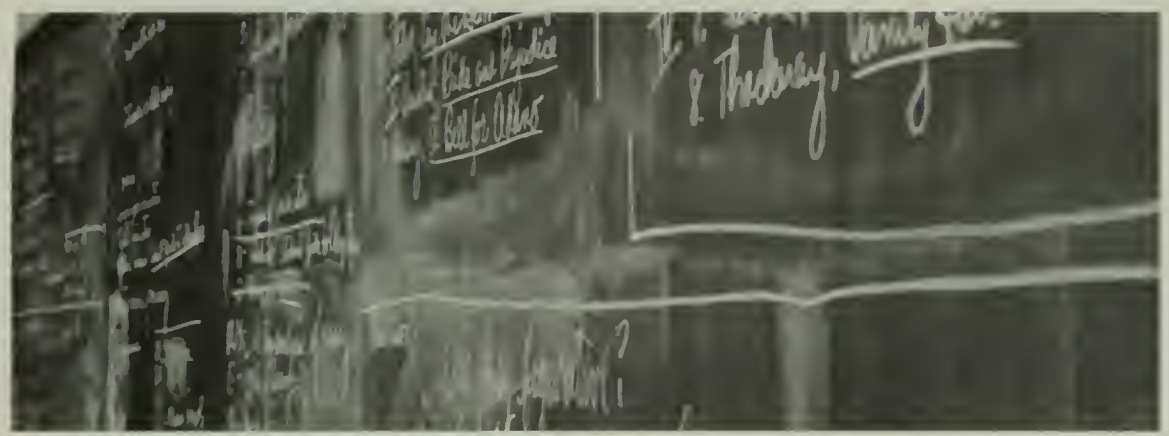
Meaningful customs and familiar places form random abstractions in our memory.

We move with stumbling steps and unheeded exhaustion to keep pace with academic and social existence.

Study is simultaneously a vile grind and a sudden perception.

A football game is an overlay of images—of spontaneous symmetry, of Greek furies, of satisfaction.

The shade of difference in every moment makes life an exciting unknown.



Academe is a land of paradoxical drudgery and fragile beauty.

SERVICE

A message to the senior class from its officers:

"As graduates of the class of 1966 we look back on our years at North Quincy High School with many cherished memories. We have worked together in living up to North's reputation and in carrying through the many traditions and in bringing out our well-known spirit. Owing much of our success to our fellow officers—Pete Varney, President; Ann Donohoe, Vice-President; Dianne Derany, Secretary; and Russ Doherty, Treasurer—and with sincere thanks to our class adviser Mr. Donahue, we can be assured that our final activities at North will sum up four years as not only memorable but also rewarding to each and every one of us."

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The elected rejoice.

Pete Varney, President.

Ann Donohoe, Vice-President.

Dianne Derany, Secretary.

Russ Doherty, Treasurer.

Richard Schultz, President.

And so my friends, if I am elected . . .

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

To be one of the best classes ever to graduate from North was the o'ervaulting ambition of this year's junior class, or at least of President Richard Schultz, Vice-President Beverly Hodges, Secretary Toby Felton, Treasurer Margie Goren, and adviser Miss McCoy. Keeping the traditional customs of rings and dances, the officers nevertheless altered their substance to fit the character of the class. Round rings replaced the classic square ones, North buttons raised money for the treasury, and two dances—"Witchcraft" and "The Spirit of '67"—were successful practice runs for the Junior Prom. In the words of an anonymous officer, "This class really knows how to operate!"

Beverly Hodges, Vice-President.

Toby Felton, Secretary.

Margie Goren, Treasurer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council.

Paul silences insubordination in the ranks of Margie, Jay, and Alan.

Morning meetings held by the Student Council in the room of sponsor Mr. Carlin were conducted this year by officers Paul Bregoli, President, Margie Greenfield, Vice-President, Jennifer Hodges, Secretary, and Alan Mesher, Treasurer. Elected last year by the student body, this quartet had the power of consensus to carry through the ideas which Paul had gathered during a one-week leadership training course at the University of Massachusetts. Selling bookcovers, pennants, stickers, and jewelry, managing the bookstore, enforcing the dress code, sponsoring the "Welcome Back Dance" in September, and co-operating with the National Honor Society to put on the "Snowflake Dance" in December, the Student Council served the diversity of athletic, intellectual, and social interests at North.

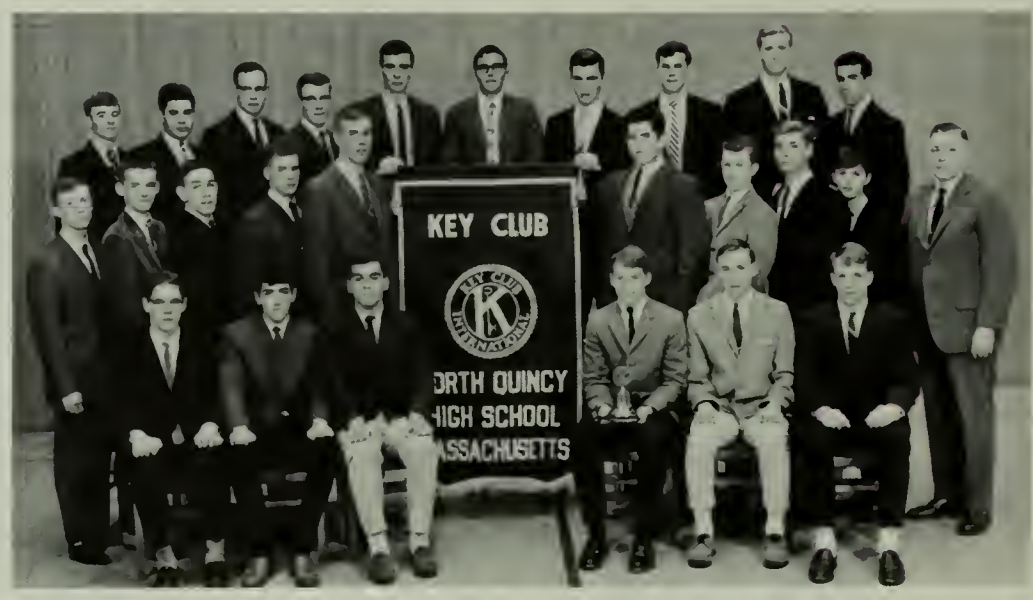
Paul and Margie run the supply line for P.D. reading lists.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Executive Board consists of student-body leaders and annually represents North in Quincy Junior Government Day, joining with students from throughout Quincy to observe and play a temporary part in the functioning of city administration. This year's members were Pete Varney, Paul Bregoli, George Randall, Susan Gabaree, David Hanson, Richard Schultz, Carol Pistone, Francis Landry, and Christian Snook.

The Executive Board.

The Key Club officers: Richard, Gene, Bob, Alan, Chris.



The Key Club.

KEY CLUB

Parties, dances, and dinners were the tools used by the boys of the Key Club to benefit their community and school. They helped the exceptional children, who have always been a main concern of the club, by giving them a Christmas party and by donating a record player to the South Shore Occupational Center. Two dances, one featuring the well-known "Rockin' Ramrods," earned money for giving—for the deprived, for other North clubs, and for a secret gift to the school. Sponsor Mr. Carlin and President Chris Snook supervised these projects as well as the annual spring Parents Appreciation Dinner, making the Key Club a fundamentally useful and unselfish organization.

The Girls' Club Executive Board.

The Girls' Club officers: Shirley, Kathy, Fran, and Jeanne.

GIRLS' CLUB

In the spring of 1965 the Girls' Club began its preparations for 1966 by electing Fran Landry president, Shirley Metcalf vice-president, Jeanne Hatfield secretary, and Kathy Mahoney treasurer. Thus prepared, it was ready in November to collect money and food from each homeroom to provide needy Quincy families with Thanksgiving dinners. At almost the same time, the club sponsored a dance honoring Pete Varney as "Mr. Touchdown" and featuring entertainment by the "Mods." With the money and enthusiasm this event raised, adviser Mr. Devore and the Executive Board were able to publicize and decorate "Carousel," the annual semiformal. Upholding another North tradition, the girls staged the Manet Show in May, producing an evening which warmed the audience with hilarity and the yearbook staff with money for publication.

The Nurses' Career Club.

The Library Staff.

It's really the library workroom.

NURSES' CAREER CLUB

The growing membership in the Nurses' Career Club reflected a growing interest in nursing as a profession and as a service. President Madalyn Cedrone, Vice-President Susan Adams, Secretary Sylvia Bradish, and Treasurer Jackie Mosesso led the club, giving a preview of the future with field trips and guest speakers and serving the present by sponsoring a dance to raise money for a scholarship. With these projects, the girls tried throughout the year to honor the Nightingale pledge with which they began it.

LIBRARY STAFF

Invasions of students eager to gain knowledge or to escape study halls failed again this year to overcome the Library Staff. Under the tutelage of Mrs. Rains and President Brenda Goldberg, members distributed passes to the hordes which raced in every morning, checked out books to the multitudes which streamed in after school, and sorted these books the next morning for use during the day. Overnight references were charged out by an assembly line of staff, Mrs. Forester, Mrs. DeCilio, and Mr. Penna, barricaded behind the charging desk. During classroom hours members mended damaged materials and shelved books. The club dispensed hospitality as well as service in its annual spring tea for parents and faculty and in its participation in the Girls' Club Christmas party for retarded children at the Pollard School.

RECEPTIONISTS

"May I help you? . . . the second door on the left . . . up the stairs and to the right," were familiar words of the Receptionists, students who answered Mr. Carlin's request to give up study periods in order to be at hand to give visitors to North directions and welcome.

A studious guard of the entrance.

The Receptionists.

The Guidance Receptionists.

GUIDANCE RECEPTIONISTS

A stranger's thoughts might have been curious about the Guidance Receptionists as they meandered through North's empty corridors during class time, but he would have approved on discovering the mission of these girls. Helping counselors track down students who had somehow disappeared, they searched the library, study halls, attendance office, and main office to find their elusive victims. Between forays the girls assisted the counselors in rooms 217 and 219 with the inevitable small tasks which arise in advising over 1700 pupils.

The Broadcasting Staff.

From a jury-rigged studio in room 119 the W.J.D.A. program went forth every Thursday. Senior broadcasters Marsha King, James Brennan, Roberta Clisham, and Maureen McKenna and sponsor Mr. Merritt sought out students with interesting learning experiences and musical talent to entertain, often to enlighten, radio listeners on the South Shore.

W.J.D.A. STAFF

CLASS DAY COMMITTEE

The Class Day Committee.

Blame the Class Day Committee for the craziest day of the year. It was this organization, abetted by Mr. Donahue, which planned the senior class picnic, hired buses to transport the mob to Lake Pearl, and provided athletic equipment, but unfortunately no strait jackets. Poor unenlightened underclassmen must forgive us if they were sprayed by a squirt gun or run over by a mad roller skater as we waited to depart. We can say only that your time will come.

Prom Committee Chairmen Chris Snook and Karen Lundsgaard.

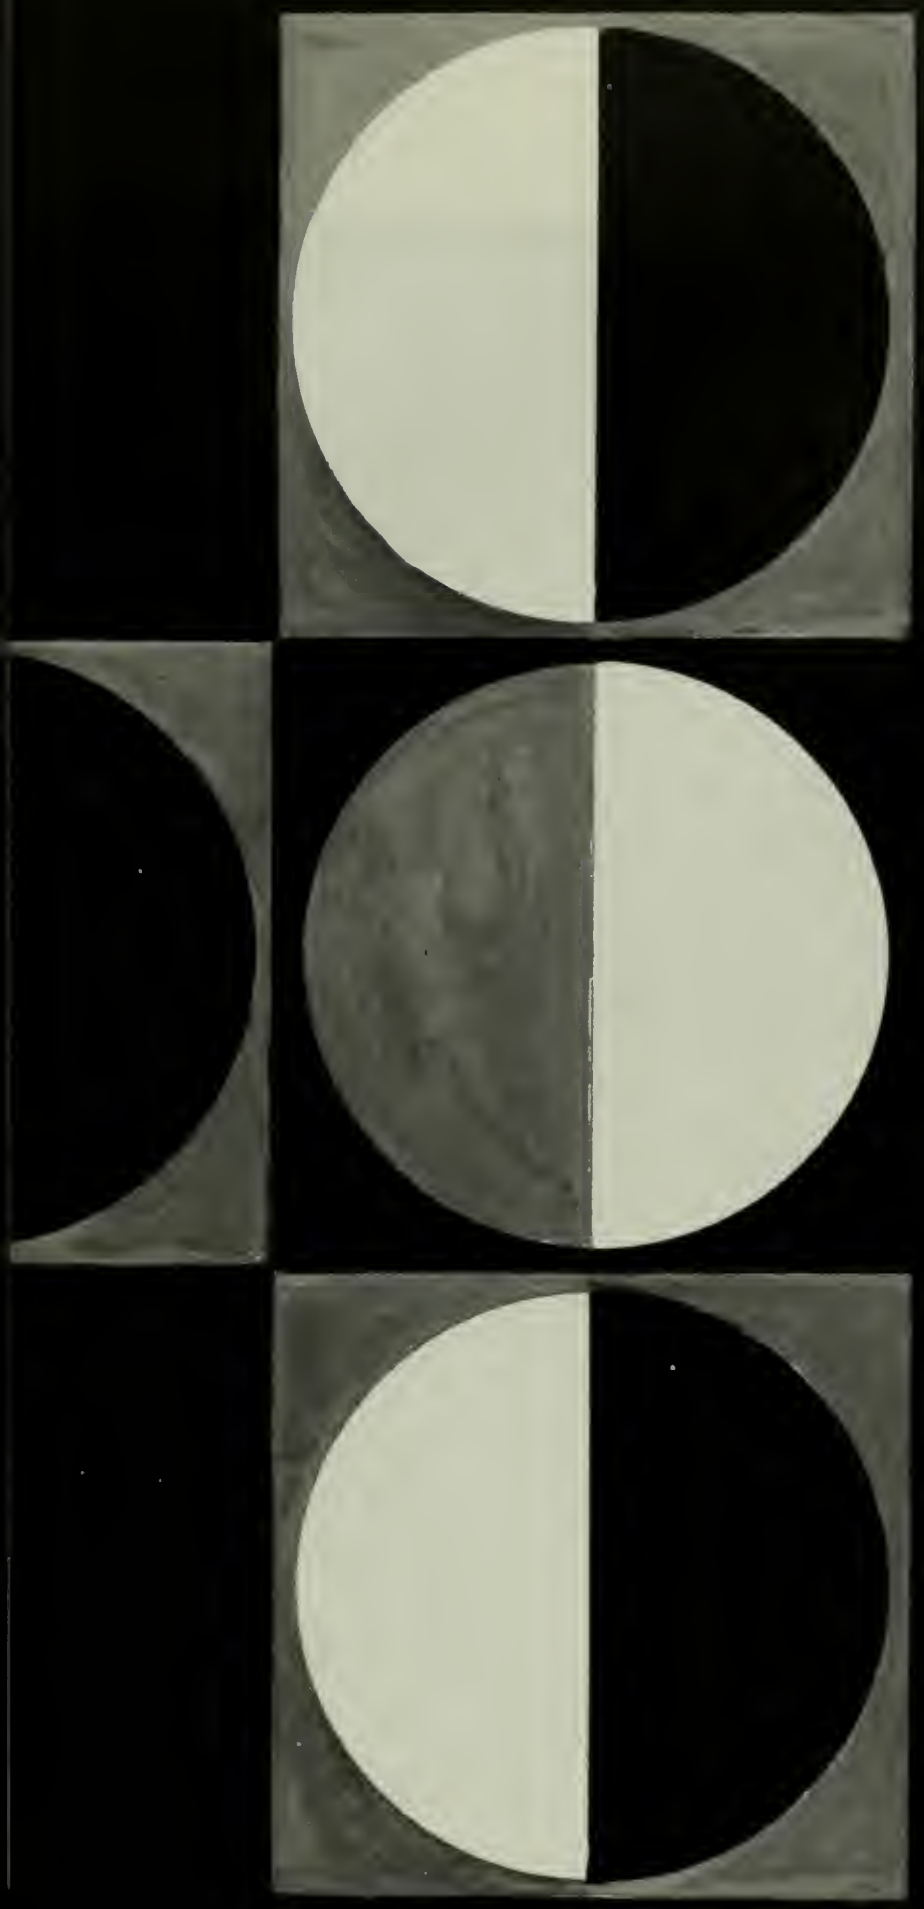
PROM COMMITTEE

Like Minerva, the Senior Prom seemed born full-grown and blooming, but it was less of a miracle for the Prom Committee which had begun early in spring to arrange "We're Almost There." Subcommittees listened to bands and visited ballrooms in order to obtain the best facilities available for a long-anticipated evening.

Dance Committee Chairmen Marguerite Barron, Alan Mesher, and Paul Bregoli.

DANCE COMMITTEE

A successful dance requires planning, ideas, music, and decorations. All of these ingredients were provided in lavish proportion by the Dance Committee. Producing the "Raiders' Romp" in the fall and the "Bermuda Hop" in the spring, it amassed both pleasure and profit for the Class of 1966.



SCHOLARSHIP

NORTH STAR

The North Star Staff.

Ken, Dennie, James, and Mrs. Miller admire their work.

With a financial problem inherited from last year, the North Star had to make publication wait temporarily on money. Weaving their way between lunchroom tables and into their friends' conversations, staff members were able to sell enough raffle tickets for a season basketball pass to confidently plan a pre-Christmas issue. Under the command of Editor-in-Chief James Peak, Assistant Editor Marjorie Greenfield, Business Manager Kenneth Bertrand, and Sports Editor Alan Mesher, reporters regurgitated copy for a Student Council column, two sports pages, an activities feature, and articles about prominent seniors. As the news grew old, as sponsors Miss Jones became Mrs. Miller, and as deadlines passed, a threatened North tradition was rescued and invigorated.

The Mathematics Club.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

Formed in the late fall by Mrs. Welch and continued by Miss Horrigan, the Mathematics Club met once a month for intrigue and suspense. Would the mysterious Möbius strip yield to the blade or guard its one-sided secret? Would Simple Simon, desperate to get cigars for his father's birthday, be able to put x, 2x, and 2x + 6 together to avoid going into debt? As President Caroline Rains, Vice-President Leslie Powers, and Secretary Marguerite Barron scrawled coded messages on the blackboard it became evident that cool calculation would swerve by the riddler's detours, zoom out of his ambushes, and come up with answers.

The Russian Class.

RUSSIAN

It was not a CIA training course but North's Russian class which met on alternate mornings before school in room 415. Mr. Tanguay, an erstwhile French teacher, conducts the program, trying to give students a basic grammar and vocabulary to speak and write the tongue of Turgenev and Dostoevsky.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Members elected in 1966 with President David Hanson.

Selected by sponsors Mrs. Black and Mr. Miceli in their junior or senior year for the National Honor Society, members strove to demonstrate their leadership, scholarship, character, and service by participating in several projects. With fall dances they raised money for an exchange student and an organ. Simultaneously, President David Hanson, Vice-President Ann Yeomans, Treasurer Stephen Soderberg, and Secretary Kathy Hennessey drove the group in its search for old members to appear in the spring induction ceremony. Discovering some abroad or in important positions, this year's members hoped for similar success in the competition for scholarships offered by the national association.

The 1965 induction.

Members elected in 1965.

LATIN HONOR SOCIETY

At the end of every year the Latin Honor Society participates in the combined French, German, Spanish, and Latin Honor Societies' induction and tea, honoring students who have shown outstanding achievement by earning averages of XC or better in their first year of Latin and LXXXV or better in their second year. Selected by Miss Fifield, members this year elected Geraldine Donovan as president, Christine Lane as vice-president, Joanne McCarthy as secretary, and Leslie Schultz as treasurer.

The Latin Honor Society.

The Spanish Honor Society.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

¿Habla Usted espanol? One had not only to speak Spanish but also to maintain a B+ average or better and demonstrate a genuine interest in the language to become a member of North's National Spanish Honor Society. Directed by Miss Pratt, President Christian Snook, Vice-President Dave Zink, Secretary Ann Lundgren, and Treasurer John Sheehan, the members raised a scholarship to help a deserving Spanish scholar continue his study in college. By selling programs at the Thanksgiving game they served both this project and the school.

Dave, John, Chris, and Ann smile at each other in Spanish.

FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY

Ann, Shirley, Stephen, Cynthia, and Mary stroll the streets of North Quincy.

The German Honor Society.

The French Honor Society.

The French Honor Society celebrated the return of Program Director Stephen Soderberg from his summer trip to France by asking him to show the slides he had taken there. With the inspiration of his success, members dreamed of Quebec in February, but Treasurer Mary Histen's realistic evaluation of expenses caused President Ann Yeomans, Vice-President Cynthia Entwistle, and Secretary Shirley Metcalf to make plans instead to see French movies and plays in the Boston area and to finish the year with a beach party at the home of club sponsor Mr. Tanguay.

A high regard for the German language and proficiency in it were the requirements of membership in the German Honor Society, a group whose smallness reflected the difficulty of its challenge. Members needed little persuasion from President Robert Leavens and sponsor Miss Meisner to help swell North's fund for an exchange student and thereby to ensure that their high school would next year have the direct contact with a foreign culture and character which they had indirectly gained from studying the geography, people, and literature of Germany.

GERMAN HONOR SOCIETY

MARINE SCIENCE CLUB

The Marine Science Club.

Pursuing its purpose of gaining knowledge in the fields of marine biology and oceanography through individual and group research, the Marine Science Club investigated an area of Wollaston Bay and classified the sea life found within it. Co-Chairmen William McWeeny and Robert Murray and Secretary Mary Moore conducted the meetings held on dry land, arranging with the help of Miss Schields to have a guest lecturer, a film, a laboratory experiment, or a discussion for club members every Tuesday.

Bob Murray, a future Jacques Cousteau.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club.

Belonging to the Science Club was a strenuous occupation this year, for members had not only to prepare for the club's usual activities but also to raise funds for their seven colleagues who had been chosen to participate in the Florida Science Study Program. After selling uncountable dozens of brownies and chopping innumerable cords of wood, members had earned enough money to send the group off at Christmas for over a week of lectures and field trips in Florida. Regular meetings were not neglected, however, as student demonstrations, guest lectures, faculty explanations of equipment, slides, and films were presented. Feasting at the Submarine Supper, listening to speakers at nearby colleges, applying for summer science institutes, and celebrating the year's end with a picnic, members ambitiously sought to increase their knowledge while having fun. Their most challenging venture, North's eighth annual science fair, required months of work and expert advice to be able to face confidently specialists in the subject of an exhibit. These numerous affairs were all thoroughly plotted by President Mary Moore, Vice-President William McWeeny, Recording Secretary Julie Johnston, Corresponding Secretary Elaine Fraser, Program Chairman Jeffrey Stone, Treasurer Sally O'Connor, and sponsor Miss Schields.

"Take a pinch of salt, a dash of horseradish, some cream . . ." explains Leslie.

DRAMA WORKSHOP

The Drama Workshop.

"This club has a bad name," remarked Barbara Greene, making it her first duty of the year to change the title of the Drama Club to the Drama Workshop in order to emphasize the organization's interest in all aspects of the theater, rather than just in acting. Sponsoring the Charles Players' presentation of The Living Stage and putting on a play for retarded children gave the members experience in scenery, costuming, and performing which decreased their problems of producing Moss Hart's You Can't Take It with You. A large group, the Workshop was advised by Mrs. Hosman and Miss Maistrellis, and its numerous but necessary committees were kept working by President Barbara Greene, Vice-President Nancy Shute, Secretary Cleo Papaviza, and Treasurer Marguerite Vickery.

". . . nature's handmaid art."

The Art Club.

ART CLUB

This year's Art Club, advised by Mr. Keaveny, improved its effectiveness by splitting into three committees. The first, with Peter Johnston and Kathleen Gildea as co-chairmen, used silk-screening to make posters which enhanced the artistic image of North's brick walls; the second, headed by Alicia Wallquist, created original bulletin boards for the library; and Linda Colleta and Marguerite Barron, as co-chairmen of the third, were responsible for the stained glass windows which beautified North at Christmas.

CONCERT CHOIR

Twenty-seven vocalists and three pianists formed the Concert Choir which met with Mr. Leone every day to rehearse for numerous competitions, assemblies, and radio broadcasts. Singing hymns, madrigals, and popular songs, they entertained the study next door; arguing about seating arrangements, acoustics, and the faults of each section, they goaded themselves into improvement. When twelve members won Second Place Honors at the New England Music Festival, they celebrated their success by drowning out Quincy High's entrants with folk songs on the bus trip home. A few weeks later five taxis carried members off again, this time to Sherry's to sing for a luncheon group. After the pianists had squeezed out of a 4X4 cubicle which housed the piano and had helped the rest consume warm vanilla ice cream, the group returned to school, unfortunately too late for seventh period. During their next performance, given at the Wollaston Golf Club, it was debatable whether the singers or the audience was more entertaining. As the year passed, fun and work combined on many occasions, and the selection of seven members of the choir to participate in District Chorus affirmed that musical enjoyment and achievement were inseparable characteristics of this year's group.

The Concert Choir.

Mr. Leone is deaf in his soprano ear.

The Mixed Glee Club.

The Mixed Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Leone, was composed of students interested in music and singing. During the one hundred twenty minutes members spent in room 404 each week, they not only harmonized but also learned how to read notes and clap rhythms. Although the study in room 402 may have rued this last activity, the whole school appreciated the group's performance of the "Hallelujah Chorus" at the Christmas assembly.

MIXED GLEE CLUB

DEBATING TEAM

Until after four o'clock on Friday afternoons some of North's most stubborn people met with Miss Persis Johnson to discuss such works as Oedipus Rex, Of the Nature of Things, and "Ecclesiastes." Regardless of the theme of the specific book, questions of fate, God, and virtue constantly recurred. Fledgling philosophers were both amused and reflective when they wondered how mental sweat can be pleasant, whether the need for "hot soldiers" created the morals of family life, and why, if each pebble has a soul to be reincarnated, there is more sand than man. Often left unconvinced by the authors and by each other, members became aware that they themselves had to answer remaining uncertainties.

The Debating Team.

Aided by Mr. Paul Blaney from Eastern Nazarene College and prepared by hours of research, the Debating Team was a very "worthy opponent" this year. In interscholastic debates within the South Shore, in all-day tournaments, and in matches in New Hampshire and New York, members established a good win-loss record by defending their stand with logic and composure.

"Yes, Mr. Murphy, I'll get right on it," says George, getting right on it. Susan says nothing with a fiendish grin.

"What did you do for the yearbook this weekend, Caroline?" asks Mr. Murphy with a glint in his tooth.

"I did nothing," says Caroline with taste and sensitivity, annoyed at being interrupted while nagging Oedipus Randall.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Although last year's graduation meant an inexperienced line and little hope for a good football season this year, the 1966 team, with a strong veteran backfield and an active Coach Leone, became one of the pleasant surprises of the year.

Opening against New Bedford, North dropped behind 6-0 and trailed until the fourth period, when Dave Zink's score turned the game around. Resistance from the defense and determination from Pete Varney kept the final score 12-6. Losing to Everett on the following Saturday, North nevertheless tallied twenty points, the most gained from that powerhouse in a long time.

Collecting easy home victories over Malden and Medford and hard-fought wins in away-games with Chelsea and Hingham, North was now 5-1 and third in the state, but, left after the Hingham game with injuries to key players, North got the short end of a 29-14 score in Revere.

A muddy victory over Somerville set the stage for the annual Thanksgiving Day clash with Quincy. Playing as the underdog, North Led Quincy in total offense 346 yards to 231 but not on the 20-16 scoreboard. The passing of All-Scholastic Captain Richie Wanless and the play of All-Scholastic Pete Varney were outstanding, however, as North's surprisingly successful football team closed with a 6-3 record.

SOCCER

The Soccer Team followed a successful 1964 season and South Shore League Championship with an equally successful 1965 campaign and an 11-3 record. This showing was made possible by a well-balanced variety of offensive and defensive talents and by an effective blend of team spirit, hard work, and Mr. Golding's expert coaching.

The offense featured the speed and ball-handling ability of Co-Captain and left outside Bob Rayner and right inside Larry DeFelice, both of whom were chosen as Ledger All-Scholastics. Larry also provided much of the team's scoring punch as he accounted for 29 of its 46 goals. Making up the outstanding Raider defensive unit were All-Scholastic center halfback and poet Paul Bregoli, Co-Captain Dave Hanson, and left halfback Mike Kelly, along with fullback Gene Schleicher and league all-star goalie Gerry Mulvey, who accumulated seven shutouts.

The season was one of spirited rivalries among North, Sharon, and Quincy for the South Shore League Championship. North started fast but dropped games to Sharon and Quincy. After making a remarkable comeback by winning seven games in a row with five shutouts, North lost the championship to Sharon in a hard-played game on the last day of a satisfying season for Coach Golding, players, and North soccer fans.

"My, that smarts," says Larry and Bob smashingly.

BASKETBALL

A combination of seasoned veterans, natural talent, great desire, and a fine coach captured the Greater Boston League basketball championship for North for the second consecutive year. From the outset the team lived up to its preseason rating of Number One in New England. After a sharp 64-55 victory over Everett, Coach Nolan was presented the game ball. Impressive wins over Boston English, 82-53, Chelsea, 71-48, and Somerville, 73-55, followed. Then, on January 14 at Quincy's gym, North came from behind to hand the Presidents their first defeat, 52-49. Overwhelming Medford by a score of 85-58, the boys took the crown for the first half season.

The second half opened with a big 78-52 victory over Everett. Repeated performances over Malden and Revere put North into the Tech Tourney. Chelsea and Somerville, needing upset wins over North to join it in the Tech, were both disappointed, 78-55 and 67-45. A hot Quincy squad came to North and gave the Red Raiders their only loss of the regular season by a slim three points, but the season bowed out with a smoothly-played 85-58 win over Medford as Zink, Varney, and Company finished with a 16-1 record.

After a long lay-off the team played Cardinal Spellman in the Tech, leading right through the third period; then, coming back for the fourth, the two-week delay seemed to take hold, as North scored only eight points and finally lost 64-59. Dave Zink led in scoring just as he had all season, justifying the sportsmanship award which he received from the Eastern Massachusetts basketball officials.

One of the many features of this year's team was its scoring balance. With all five starters hitting in the double figures, North piled up a 70.4 game average while the mighty defense held the opposition to only 48.6 points. With these impressive statistics as evidence, Coach Nolan and Assistant Coaches Ridge and Vermillion could point to their club as the best in the state.

GOLF

North's Golf Team began its thirty-fourth season in the spring of 1966 in quest of a third state title. Its prospects were not very good, however, because the only returning letterman was Captain Peter Fick, a junior. The coaching ability of Mr. Donahue was the best hope for a winning season in matches against Weymouth, Quincy, Hingham, Braintree, Milton, and Brockton.

TENNIS

Last year the Tennis Team practiced faithfully, wore out countless cans of tennis balls, and compiled an even record in fourteen games against Quincy, Sacred Heart, Catholic Memorial, Weymouth, Hingham, Scituate, and Brockton. This year, however, trouble struck. Several top players moved away or got jobs, and Mr. Sinclair retired as coach after many years of service. His replacement was Mr. Forester, an avowed advocate of this sport which can grow into a lifelong passion.

HOCKEY

Under the direction of Coach Laing, the Hockey Team completed a long, heartbreaking season with a record of one win and thirteen losses. Although the figures were unimpressive, the players' determination and pride won them much deserved praise. The forward line had Ed Roche and Art Buonomano as wings and Gene Schleicher as center. The defensive unit was composed of Fred Corban, Captain Russ Doherty, who was selected for the league all-star team, and Mark Tanofsky, a great goaltender.

North opened its season with a 9-1 loss to league powerhouse Christopher Columbus. In its second game the team battled Don Bosco to a 4-4 tie for two periods, but the Dons scored two quick third-period goals and went on to win 6-4. The next meeting between North and Bosco saw the Raiders use a balanced attack with goals by Tom Henderson and Ed Roche to prevail 2-1. The season finale paired North against Revere, with the first period battled to a draw but the last two periods taken away by Revere.

Both the Cross Country and Winter Track Team improved this year, indicating that North will be a track power in the next few years. Handicapped by inexperience, the Cross Country Team won four of its seven meets under veteran Coach Lyons. The outstanding performer was Captain Rich Starsiak, who placed sixth out of three hundred runners in the State Meet and won the Key Club cross country trophy. Senior Hank Lee and sophomores George Bray and Graham Murray came closest to matching Rich's speed.

Coach Gentry's Winter Track Team, also hurt because of inexperience, finished with a two-one-four record in the Met League. Seniors held the team together, molding a group of untested first-year men into a unit. Seniors can not make a team, however, and fortunately the underclassmen rose to the challenge, with sophomore Tom Pero and juniors Tom Lane, Tom Lacey, Pete Day, Fred Brune, and other lettermen such as Tom Harris and Steve Turner making a good showing. George Bray set the indoor two-mile record for North, Captain Mike Kelly broke the six hundred yard dash record, and the relay team of Court Holland, Al MacLeod, Les LaFontaine, and Mike Kelly was exceptional. With the young players coming of age, Coach Gentry expected a successful spring track season, and North again took its place as a track powerhouse.

North's Baseball Team emulated the Red Sox last year, having much spunk but a losing 5-15 record. Returning this year undaunted were pitchers Richard Wanless and Gerald Connolly, catcher Pete Varney, and outfielder Dan Marini. Coach Lewis and Assistant Coach Moscadelli expected additional help from Dave Zink and Scott Healey in their Adams Field clashes.

Relaxation while the guns cool off.

Would-be sharpshooters squinted up their eyes and braced their rifles as members of the Rifle Club met every Monday night for practice. Mr. Burgess instructed the group in how to handle a gun safely and aim it accurately, and twelve of his marksmen qualified for the rifle team which shot against Quincy High's group. Not in its direction, though, some people might moan. Alan MacLeod and several others on the team received letters in recognition of their skill, showing that guns in the hands of the serious shooter are no danger to society.

GIRLS' BOWLING

Although their scores may have made no impression on the pins, members of the Girls' Bowling Club enjoyed food and exercise during Thursday afternoon bouts at the Norfolk Downs Bowling Alley. Officers this year were Lynda Warner, President, Mary Histen, Vice-President, Barbara Cobb, Secretary, and Janet Mann, Treasurer; Miss McCoy was the sponsor. The end of the year brought an end to the bowling but not to the eating, for the Club held a banquet at which trophies were presented to the girls with the highest score and the best attendance.

The Cheerleaders.

Early morning, a cold mausoleum, wild shrieks—not stage directions for an Alfred Hitchcock movie but cheerleaders practicing. Hours of backstretching produced limber girls to raise the morale of students and players during exciting, intermittently muddy football games and in the tense atmosphere of vital basketball games. The techniques of creating a controlled pandemonium taught by Head Carol Pistone and sponsor Miss McCoy were successful in stimulating support and enthusiasm for athletics at North.

BAND

The Band.

There were two possible conditions in the second floor corridor during seventh period: Either a spirited roar bellowed out of the auditorium or a respectable silence settled the dust in the trophy cases. In the first instance, the Band was being conducted by Mr. Leone; in the second case, North's musicians had hiked over to Cavanaugh Field to practice march formations for football games. Several individuals won prizes for their performances in the New England Music Festival, and others were chosen for the Quincy Symphonic Band. The group was led by President Bob Rayner, Vice-President Marty Jacobs, Secretary William Clark, and Treasurer Susan Bloom. With such virtuosos as examples, instrumentalists had constantly to practice to perfect their skills.

Members assemble for a compulsory Saturday appearance.

Co-Chairmen of the Spirit Committee.

Early in the school year, as athletes began their practice sessions, the Spirit Committee with Co-Chairmen Dave Zink and Susan LaHive made preparations for the moral support of North's football and soccer teams. Posters placed conspicuously in the cafeteria and stairwells reminded the student body to attend games and cheer our players, win or lose. To further amplify vocal encouragement, the Committee organized two rallies and made megaphones out of bleach bottles. During the basketball and hockey seasons, Jennifer Hodges and John Sheehan took over the chairmanship, continuing to project the spirit of North. With one of the greatest basketball teams in the history of the school, the Spirit Committee was almost superfluous, for every victory aroused and multiplied spontaneous enthusiasm. The co-operation of students, cheerleaders, and Spirit Committee thus carried on the traditional spirit of North.

Soothing the loss of a football game or celebrating a win, the Majorettes twirled and marched their way through the Saturdays of autumn. The thirteen-girl squad practiced under the eyes of Heads Sylvia Bradish and Madalyn Cedrone and sponsor Miss O'Connor, then teamed up with the Band in pre-game and half-time shows. Golden instruments and scarlet shakers flashing, the performers heightened the excitement and spirit of North rooters.

In many a secret place
Where rivulets dance their wayward round,
And beauty born of murmuring sound
Shall pass into her face.

—William Wordsworth

NO

A kaleidoscope is a fascinating toy; finally, though, its charm is eroded by time. Four years become a lonely past. An affair of affection with youth is over.

FROM THE EDITORS . . .

In working to produce the 1966 Manet we the editors have attempted to compose a picture of student life at North. We would like to extend to our staffs, our patrons and advertisers, our printer, Mr. Roswell Farnham, our school photographer, Mr. James Bleiler, and our advisor, Mr. Thomas J. Murphy, our sincerest thanks for their help and co-operation throughout the year.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer as carefully as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone Company . . . New England's largest employer.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.
